FOREWORD

AT THE annual reunion of the family in 1934 the motion was made by Mrs. Henry Gesell, Jr., that someone be appointed to compile a historical record of the John Gesell, Sr., family. The motion being duly seconded and voted upon favorably, it fell my lot to serve in this capacity. The following history which I have combined with a genealogical record, thus enabling a person to trace his relationship to another, is the outgrowth of this suggestion plus two years of research and arranging material. It has been no little task, and except for the interest and co-operation of many other members of the family would have been an impossible undertaking. Whatever you have done to help in this work, I feel you will have your reward when you realize the value of the book.

At this place I feel that special thanks are due Mrs. Christina Beckman for the anecdotes and stories concerning the early days which are included herein.

Other sources of information which have contributed to our history are:

- (1) History of Franklin County, Indiana—1915.
- (2) Illustrated Historical Atlas of Franklin County—1882.
- (3) Atlas of Franklin County—1925.
- (4) Genealogy of Henry William Klemme Family—1923.
- (5) Church Record, St. Peter's Ev. Prot. Church, Klemme's Corner—1843.

It is hoped that this will not be a final record. To keep it up to date each individual family is requested to send in or bring in at the time of the reunion (the last Sunday in August) account of changes that have taken place, and these in turn listed on a loose-leaf page to be published as often as the volume of changes warrants. Such records should include all given names, dates and places of births, marriages and deaths, maiden names of wives, dates and places of army or naval service.

This history commemorates the one hundredth year of the Gesell family in America. In those hundred years so many changes have taken place that we may well say that we live in a different world from that in which lived Grandfather and Grandmother Gesell. But still it is the land of the free to which came those sturdy German immigrants in 1836. As we look over this book, and read of the lives of those long gone, we cannot help but realize that they made a good choice when they cast their lot with America. Yes, we value our German blood, but not so highly as our American citizenship, and for that inheritance we thank them.

Although not an ancestor worshipper in any sense of the word, it is my belief that the courage and hardihood of our forefathers should not go unnoticed, and it is this history that will preserve these records for all time. This little book will become of inestimable value in years to come when the older ones are gone who now can yet tell us of the days and people gone by.

It is with the greatest of pleasure, therefore, that I hereby dedicate this small volume to the only remaining children of John Gesell, Sr.—my grandmother, Mrs. Christina Beckman, and Uncle Henry L. Gesell.

Sincerely,

Arthur J. Beckman, Historian,

Klemme's Corner, Indiana, August 6, 1936.

FAMILY HISTORY

Philip Leonard Gesell, the founder of the line of the Gesell family with which this history deals, was born on March 10, 1790, at Framesheim, near Worms, in the Grand Duchy of Hessen, Germany.

In 1813 or 1814 he was married to Apolonia Retter, the daughter of John Retter, and a native of Wohnscreim, Hessen, Germany, where she was born May 20, 1794. To this union were born six children: John, Jacob, Philip, Margaret, Katharine, and Angeline. It is with the descendants of John Gesell, the eldest son, that this history deals.

In 1836 Philip L. Gesell took the trail which so many of his countrymen had already taken, and with his wife and family emigrated to America in a small sail ship. After four weeks upon the tossing Atlantic they landed at New York Harbor, and immediately afterward proceeded overland to the Ohio, down which they traveled to Cincinnati. Then, leaving the beaten path, they came northward by wagons to Franklin County, Indiana, locating permanently on a piece of land in Highland Township, now owned by Mr. John Kunkel. The government deed for one hundred acres was given on August 6, 1836.

Philip L. Gesell was a skilled weaver of linen in the fatherland, but forsook this occupation for farming upon coming to the United States. The following account, related by Mrs. Christina (Gesell) Beckman, tells in detail of this interesting but laborious industry.

Each year a patch of flax was planted—perhaps as large as an ordinary garden—and during the long winter months the family plied the trade of weaving. For a long time the looms and other equipment stood in a small room above an outside cellar on the old homestead. Then when the new house of stone, now standing on the John Kunkel farm, was built Grandfather Gesell moved his weaving equipment into the old house.

His son, John Gesell, Sr., learned the trade early in life and built on his farm, now owned by Henry L. Gesell, a loom-house, excellently fitted with the equipment of that time. It contained looms, spinning wheels, carding reels, combs, etc., and still stands on its original site. When Grandfather Gesell became too feeble to operate his looms, his son, John Gesell, went from his place to his father's working both looms.

The flax plant grows about two feet high and blooms a light blue color. It is ripe when the stalk becomes brown. Then Grandmother Gesell would go out into the field and pull the stalks one by one out by the roots, and tie them in small bunches. These in turn were put into small shocks like grain. When the shocks were dry threshing began. The stalks were laid out on a floor and pounded with a flail to remove the seed. Then they were laid out in the field to rot, by which process the outer covering of the stalk was removed, leaving the fibre which made the linen. This in turn went through a multitude of processes before it was ready for the spinning wheel. It took all winter to complete the work.

In the family are several pieces of fine linen which were woven by Grandfather Gesell and his son.

The Gesell family were of the Reformed faith in the old country, but became organizers and early members of the German Evangelical Protestant church at Klemme's Corner, both Philip and John Gesell being listed on the church record of 1843. Later they became active members of the Trinity Lutheran Church also of Klemme's Corner.

Philip L. Gesell died June 7, 1871, his wife following him February 21, 1884.

John Gesell, Sr., was born April 23, 1815 in Framesheim, Hessen, and came with his parents to Franklin County. There he married Caroline Bossert, who was born November 9, 1818 in the Grand Duchy of Hessen, Germany. They reared a family of ten children, one of whom died in infancy.

The parents of Caroline (Bossert) Gesell, the wife of John Gesell, Sr., were Abraham and Anna Maria Bossert. Abraham Bossert was born in Wollsrhein, Hessen, Germany, June 23, 1785, and died near Klemme's Corner, Indiana, September 6, 1864. His wife, Anna Maria Wirth, was born June 6, 1797, in Siefersheim, Hessen, and died near Klemme's Corner, July 29, 1845. The Bossert family arrived in Franklin County in 1837.

On March 28, 1848, John Gesell and his wife Caroline, deeded to the trustees of Trinity Lutheran Church, 1/2 acre of land from the corner of the farm now owned by Harold L. Gesell. The description of this lot can be found in the Franklin County Clerk's office in Brookville, Indiana, Book 1, page 82.

On this lot the Trinity Lutheran Church was erected and a portion was set aside for a cemetery. A number of Gesell's were buried here. Some of the older ones are:

Philip L. Gesell, born March 10, 1790, died June 7, 1871 and his wife Apolonia

Retter Gesell, born May 20, 1794, died February 21, 1884.

Being of delicate disposition, a serious cold developed resulting in her death. At her funeral it is noteworthy to mention that a group of six girls--her friends--attired in white, acted as pallbearers. She died at the age of 21--July 25, 1883. Interment in Trinity Lutheran Cemetery, Franklin County, Indiana.

MILITARY RECORD

When the war trumpets sound and the nation calls its young men forth to "Do or Die" the flame of patriotism leaps high and from great mansions and lowly cottages alike streams forth the flower of young manhood—ready to follow the flag to defeat or victory. As one great American stated it, "Our country! May she be ever right, but right or wrong—our Country!" This German-American family as countless thousands of others has been ever loyal to our nation, laboring in the fields of peace and serving in the fields of war. Various members of the family have served in the Civil and World Wars or in peace-time.

CIVIL WAR OR WAR BETWEEN THE STATES

JACOB GESELL

Jacob Gesell, oldest son of John Gesell, Sr., and his wife, Caroline Bossert Gesell, served in the Union Army in Company A, 35th Regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry.

This information was given me by Mrs. Christina Beckman, sister of Jacob Gesell: "I don't know just what year it was when he went to the war. I think it was in 1863. At least it was in the fall of the year, and he was gone just one winter. There were several from this place who went at that time."

"He wrote that he was in a battle in Tennessee, and that it was very cold down there—that the dogs up here had it better than they. From this we know it must have been very cold, for the clothes he wore consisted of heavy cotton and woolen underwear, wool uniform, and heavy woolen overcoat with cape.

"He was gone about nine months, and was discharged at Indianapolis. There he bought a suit of such poor quality that father said he should have waited until he got home, then he would have bought him a suit that was worth something. Wool at that time was very scarce since most of it had to go into the soldiers' uniforms, and anything was put into the civilian clothes. We at home had to go without coffee, too, using rye instead."

The following interesting account of his experiences during the war was gleaned from his obituary: "He enlisted in the Civil War September 22, 1864, at Greensburg, Indiana, for one year as a private at the age of 22 years.

"The latter part of December, 1864, he was assigned to special duty as a teamster in General Thomas' great pontoon train. He was in the battle at Franklin, Tennessee, with all of Hood's army, two days at Nashville when they nearly annihilated Hood's army, following the remnant across the Tennessee river. He was given a discharge June 22, 1865, at Nashville, and later at Indianapolis in July. During his service he contracted chronic diarrhea, rheumatism, and catarrh, but avoided going to the hospital by being cared for by surgeons and comrades, both in field, and camp."

WORLD WAR I

PHILIP LEONARD GESELL

Philip Leonard Gesell, son of Philip, Sr., and Christina Brose Gesell, entered the service of the United States Army October 5, 1917 at Brookville, Indiana. After training at Camp Taylor, Kentucky, Camp Shelby, Mississippi, and Camp Mills, New York, he was assigned to Company L, 335th Infantry. Later he was transferred to Supply Company, Company H, 152nd Infantry, where he served as a wagoner. On October 6, 1918, he sailed for France, contracted influenza, and died on board ship October 15, 1918. He was buried at sea with military ceremony.

ABRAHAM MATTHEW GESELL

Abraham Matthew Gesell, son of Philip, Sr., and Christina Brose Gesell, entered the service of the United States Army April 3, 1918, was assigned to Company 4, S. N. Y., first at Ft. Hamilton, N. Y., and later at Wadsworth, N. Y.

He set sail for the Panama Canal Zone from New York City July 5, 1918, passing Puerto Rico and reaching the Panama Canal July 21, 1918. He remained there in Company O-74 of the Panama Canal Coast Artillery until May 5, 1919, when he embarked for the States. He was honorably discharged from Ft. Zachary Taylor, Kentucky, May 20, 1919.
